

Sixgeary Cottage

Featured in the Guardian newspaper's
'Cool cottages on the Isle of Skye'

Sixgeary is a luxury self-catering retreat on the northwest coast of the Isle of Skye. This former croft house has recently been renovated by award-winning architects Dualchas to offer a light and modern space without losing any of its original character or style.

Sixgeary is a beautiful holiday cottage with incredible views, and makes an ideal base for couples, friends or families to enjoy a holiday on the Isle of Skye.

The cottage sleeps up to four people with two bedrooms – one double and one twin. The living room is warm and cosy with a Morso wood burning stove and is the perfect place to relax after a day out walking or exploring. The kitchen diner is sleek and contemporary and has been fitted with high quality appliances. The floor to ceiling sliding doors provide spectacular views of the surrounding landscape and lead to a small area of decking ideal for soaking up the sun or enjoying a meal or an evening drink. Modern additions include under floor heating. The interiors are smart and simple with ercol furniture.

cosy living room

ercol bed

dining area

stunning views

The Cottage

- ❖ sleeps up to 4 (1 double, 1 twin)
- ❖ stunning views
- ❖ under floor heating
- ❖ wood-burning stove
- ❖ well equipped kitchen
- ❖ free Wi-Fi internet
- ❖ parking for 2 cars

Location

The cottage is situated in Geary, a small crofting township on the beautiful northeast coast of the Waternish peninsula, overlooking loch Snizort on the Island of Skye.

The cottage has uninterrupted views to the Ascrib Islands and across the Minch to the Western Isles.

Booking/availability

Full details, photos and rates on our website: www.sixgeary.com